2018 Message from the CEO

As the premier EHS Management credentialling organization ISHM continues to support work with other organizations to support EHS management activities world wide.

ISHM looks forward to continued growth for several years. Without a doubt ISHM certifications are for EHS managers.

About the Institute for Safety and Health Management

The Institute for Safety and Health Management is the credentialling organization founded by the National Safety Management Society (NSMS), to promote the establishment of professional standards. The ISHM Board of Directors ensures the organization exists to promote the establishment of standards for the profession and recognizes safety and risk management professionals who, through demonstrated professional experience and the passing of a comprehensive exam, have met ISHM's requirements for mastering the safety management body of knowledge. See our bylaws.

ISHM Mission Statement

To serve all industries by providing EHS management certifications that improve safety for workers and value for employers.
ISHM Vision Statement
To advance management leadership and character by providing premier certifications for safety and health leaders.

ISHM Core Values
